- Conversations are with an attorney and advice is confidential.
- Questions about specific employment situations in the workplace can be answered so that those situations may be handled in a way likely to avoid a claim.

First-Time Buyers Program

Employment Practices Liability coverage provides essential protection against suits and threats of suits alleging harassment, discrimination or wrongful termination claims made by employees, past employees or by applicants for employment.

Important

Statistics show that businesses are four times more likely to face an employment practices liability claim than a fire loss or 'slip and fall' liability claim. Six out of ten employers have faced employment lawsuits within the past five years.

Smaller businesses can't afford the financial burden of litigation and are often forced to settle to avoid the costs of going to court - even when claims are unfounded.

Good Coverage Fair Price

- Special Rates. This program offers minimum premiums and broad coverage form with a simplified application process for first-time buyers. The protection provided has been constantly updated to respond to new laws and court decisions.
- Full Prior Acts. This covers claims arising from incidents or occurrences that happened prior to the inception of the policy. However, this does not cover claims or incidents you know about.
- Definition of "Employee". Claims from leased employees, temporary workers, independent contractors and volunteers included.
- Defense and Indemnity Included. Some policies only pay legal defense costs – forcing the insured to pay settlements and judgments. This policy covers both defense and settlement costs.
- Defense Outside the Limits. The company's payment of legal bills does not reduce the funds available for settlements or judgments.
- Third Party Coverage Included: This covers discrimination and harassment claims from claimants who are not employees; such as customers, guests or outside vendors.
